

UPPER AUSTRIA

When you think of Upper Austria, what is the first thing that comes to your mind? Exactly, you will think of the capital, Linz. Most likely, you'll start your journey at the central station, or you might arrive on the Danube by ship. If you went by ship, you might also have passed by the "Schlögener Schlinge", where the river snakes its way through the breath-taking landscape. But Upper Austria is not only known for its rivers, there are also lots of lakes like lake Attersee, Mondsee or the widely known lake Hallstättersee, whose shores are dotted with very beautiful surroundings like small, historic towns and villages.

Schlögener Schlinge

Upper Austria is not only famous for the Danube or lake "Attersee", but we also have cultural areas like Mauthausen, which reminds us of the crimes committed by the Nazi regime.

Enjoy Linz's history by visiting some museums like the Ars Electronica Center, where you can see lots of new electronic devices and their possible impact on the future, or the so-called Schlossmuseum (castle museum), which contains famous inventions and impressions of the history of the earth. In Upper Austria we also have ancient churches like Saint Martin's church.

Are you craving a nice trip to the mountains? Travel to the "Salzkammergut" region, in which you will encounter picturesque lakes and awe-inspiring heights, which will make every hiking-enthusiasts drop their jaw. From wandering down hillsides and tiny walks to demanding mountain-climbing and jumping into the ice-cold, crystal-clear water; everything is possible in Upper Austria.
